Content of the event may change at the discretion of the organising partners.

Potatoes in Practice is Britain's largest field-based potato event dedicated to the potato industry. The James Hutton Institute, SAC, Agrii and Potato Council are delighted to announce the 2012 event.

This is a unique opportunity for farmers, advisors and others to view the latest government, Potato Council and industry-supported research at a single site.

Seminars

The PiP Seminar Programme will address the latest research and findings from R&D, science and agronomy, ensuring industry can keep abreast of developments and issues.

The full seminar programme will be published prior to the event. See content updates online at www.potato.org.uk and at www.hutton.ac.uk/PiP2012.

Marquee exhibits

Potato Council, The James Hutton Institute, SAC and Agrii experts will be present, explaining their latest research and products. There will also be a host of industry-leading companies showcasing their latest products, research and services. For a full list of exhibitors visit: www.hutton.ac.uk/PiP2012.

Outdoor machinery displays

Machinery dealers and manufacturers will display the latest models and technology.
